The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Goodbye Panama Canal?

If there has been any positive U.S. gains from Secretary of State Kissinger's trips to Russia they have not yet become discernible as hard-news facts.

His reports to the nation have been ambiguous — they neither indicate that his travels have been helpful nor harmful to this nation. But fair questions are being raised because of the lack of substantial information regarding his trips.

Now he prepares to make the trip again as Cuba announces it has officially joined the Soviet bloc. That and the Russian thrust in Angola are indications that growing pressure for more sanctions are being applied to the free world.

What the pressure is aimed at may not be revealed until it has become an accomplished fact if judged by Kissinger's past policy.

The situation recalls a meeting last September of the Inter-American Conference for Freedom and Security in Washington, at which nations of North and South America were represented. Members were disturbed by Kissinger's proposal to relinquish ownership of the Panama Canal.

Apparently fearing Kissinger's detente operation — here is what was said as reported by the U.S. Press Assn.:

"Since 1904 the cost of the Panama Canal to the U.S. has been $7 billion. For this we have secured perpetual sovereignty over the Canal Zone, paid for the costs of the Panama Railway, bought all the land in the Canal Zone, built the Canal and operated it, and provided its military security as an international waterway.

"Secretary Kissinger's proposal to transfer the Panama Canal to a country vulnerable to a Communist takeover must not be approved.

"Stable operation by the U.S. and continued U.S. operation of the Canal is essential to the security of the Free World, and most immediately to that of the Western Hemisphere.

"The Canal should be modernized extensively as it has been proposed; it should be kept firmly in the hands of the U.S. and the Kissinger sell-out policy on Vietnam should not be repeated in regard to the Panama Canal."

The resolution was signed by Guatemala, Brazil, Chile, Canada and the United States.

52 Congressmen then fired off a letter to President Ford urging the President to "instruct Secretary Kissinger and his negotiators not to give way" to Soviets on (SALT) Strategic Arms Limitation Talks agreements.

The Congressmen said they were concerned that the Communists are standing firm while Kissinger is offering, or is prepared to offer, a whole gamut of new "concessions" in an effort to reach a final agreement in the near future.

What counts, apparently, in the mind of Mr. Kissinger is the finalizing of an "agreement" without regard as to whether it is in the long-term interest of the U.S. or not.

Mr. Kissinger has already come under harsh criticism for the concessions made by the U.S. in earlier SALT negotiations, on the ground that it gives the USSR strategic superiority over the free world.

And for the record, on Kissinger's eighth visit to Peking late last year — preparing for the forthcoming visit there by President Ford, he attended a banquet in his honor. Chinese foreign minister Chao Kuan-hua, viewing the U.S.-USSR detente operations, said:

"The stark reality is not that detente has developed a new stage, but that the danger of a new world war is mounting... To base oneself on illusions, to mistake hopes or wishes for reality and act accordingly, will only abet the ambitions of expansionism and lead to grave consequences."

Reduced to Americanese it says, "You can't trust the Russians."

Ronald Reagan Says:

Small business men in America spend 130 million hours a year just filling out government forms. That blizzard adds $30 to $50 billion a year to the cost of doing business and it means higher prices on the products you buy.

Campus Smoking is Dead Issue in Grossmont High School District

By John Kowalczyk

Though alternative solutions were suggested and the vote was deemed only tentative, the Governing Board at Grossmont Union High School District finally answered the question of whether high school students would be permitted to smoke at school.

The answer was no.

Trustees voted by a 5-0 tally to rule out designated smoking areas on the nine Grossmont Union campuses but at the same time agreed to continue to tolerate smoking at its two continuation schools, Chaparral High in El Cajon and Skyline High in Lemon Grove.

Final approval was expected to be routine.

The issue had been under consideration since September following enactment of SB 171, a bill which transferred jurisdiction of student smoking from the State to local school boards. SB 171 went

Gasoline Station Four Time Loser

Dave's Texaco Station at 6310 Federal Blvd., Lemon Grove, has become a sort of way stop for area burglars.

Last week they did it again for the fourth time in a couple of years. This time they took seven batteries worth $273.

In the past they have taken batteries, battery chargers, impact wrenches, tires and drill motors... all taken at night.

Sheriff's deputies are intensifying protection in that area, a spokesman said.

Trustees Grease Wheels For New GUHSD School

By John Kowalczyk

Wheels are beginning to turn in the Grossmont Union High School District to provide a tenth, possibly an eleventh high school plus additional classroom facilities on existing campuses.

Following by almost a year the opening of the controversial Valhalla High school, the Governing Board last week approved the hiring of San Francisco consulting firm Stone and Youngberg to help prepare a master plan for a lease revenue bond election, tentatively set for the June 8 ballot.

The firm will help calculate the district's assessed valuation and develop a plan for the facilities needed to relieve overcrowding pressures. It will receive up to $15,000 for services, but payment is contingent upon the success of the election.

Supt. Dr. Leland B. Newcomer calls Stone and Youngberg the "best known financial consultants in bond marketing."

Enrollment has been burgeoning in the district in recent years, especially in the Santee area where, for five years, Santana High has been on extended day or double sessions.

First choice for a new high school site would likely be Santee.

11th in Spring Valley?

Spring Valley is another area which Newcomer agrees may need a new school in coming years, if recent population growth projections are accurate. Largely due to the development of Rancho San Diego, Spring Valley is expected to be the fastest growing community in the San Diego area in coming years.

Newcomer believes that the need for more schools is urgent. A new school building program, even without snags such as those which delayed construction of Valhalla, would take about two years.

"We need a new school yesterday," said Newcomer who believes strongly that plans for a new school (or schools) are years overdue.

Ongoing District studies of population and enrollment show that without additional facilities, all nine campuses may be required to go on double sessions by 1978. Presently, only Santana and Grossmont High are on extended day sessions.

Another item to be considered by the planners is the construction of permanent fa-into effect January 1. The Board action means that smoking regulations will remain the same in the District.

Students caught smoking in school are subject to suspension for the first two offenses and are expelled upon a third offense.

Trustee William Funke led opposition to smoking at the continuation schools, opining at the two previous board meetings that students at those schools should be made to abide by the same rules other students in the district follow.

Supt. Dr. Leland Newcomer advised against altering the policy at the continuation schools because such changes would take away from the alternative education concept at those schools. Funke reconsidered.

The Board also rejected an alternate move by Trustee Robert Andreen suggesting an open campus policy only during lunch hours.

A day later, the San Diego City School Board of Education also decided against on-campus smoking.

ilities for Skyline Continuation School. GUHSD bought a 30-acre site in Casa de Oro five years ago to be developed into a new, permanent alternative school. Presently, the district leases facilities at Skyline Wesleyan Church in Lemon Grove. The proposed site is south of Rt. 94 near Kenwood drive.

Different Game Plan

The lease revenue bond issue is a different way of financing a school building project. It requires only a simple majority for passage as opposed to the general bond issue's 2/3 majority.

Whereas spending of general bond revenue may be more generally stated and subject to changes deemed appropriate by the governing board, distribution of lease revenue bonds must be clearly stated before the election and cannot be changed once the issue has passed.

Newcomer, who is pledged to avoiding another Valhalla situation, is pleased with the lease revenue method.

"Voters get a break in that they are not buying a pig in a poke," he said.

Valhalla High ended up smaller than originally planned and costing much more as several delays and changes in plans occurred while construction costs skyrocketed.

Lease revenue bond legislation demands that a school district spell out exactly what is to be built and when it will be built. Also required is specific information regarding effects on the local tax rate.

Two Avenues

The District can go one of two ways in presenting a lease revenue bond issue. They may either form a non-profit corporation and handle the financing locally or they can attempt to get the state to fund the building program and sell the bonds.

The latter alternative is more attractive since it would mean a lower interest rate on the bonds and would not carry with it the hidden costs that are incurred by maintaining a local non-profit corporation, according to Dr. John Barrons, assistant superintendent for business services.

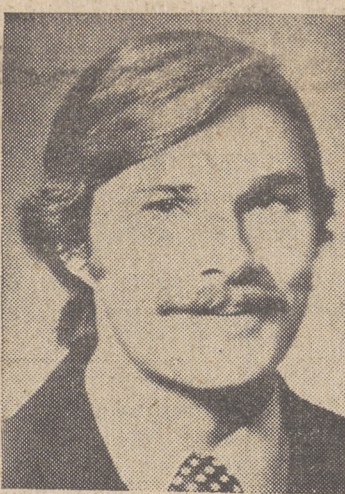

The state funding measure depends on the success of a $200 million statewide bond issue, SB 32, which is currently under consideration in Sacramento. That issue may also be on the June 8 ballot.

Boney Joins 2nd. Dist. Race For Supervisor

Stan Boney, a San Diego County businessman, is a candidate for the Second District Board of Supervisors seat which will be vacated by Dick Brown.

A native San Diegan, at 27 Boney has owned and operated food markets in the east County for the past eight years, and is the son of former Supervisor Henry Boney who retired from the Board in 1973.

Boney pledges to bring a positive attitude to office and a concern that the rights of the private citizens go before any special interests.

The large number of candidates for Supervisor is an encouraging sign that people are taking a more active role in their government, he said.

Local government must have a genuine rapport with the public and government officials must have a thrifty attitude about expenditures of tax monies, he added.

Boney majored in Public Administration at S.D. State and was employed by U.S. Congressman Clair Burgener. He has been a member of the La Mesa, El Cajon and Lakeside Chambers of Commerce.

Boney, his wife Penny, and their seven year old son Shon, reside at 5149 Mesa Terrace road in La Mesa.

SURPRISE — When Joe Alesi arrived for work on January 20, his 50th birthday, employees (many of them members of his family) poured out to greet him, burst into a chorus of "Happy Birthday" and printed up to the nearby billboard, a surprise birthday wish. Sign painters got up at the crack of dawn to post the greeting.

Incorporation Hearing Set For 10 A.M. March 3

The public hearing on Lemon Grove's bid for incorporation will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 3. It will be held by the County Board of Supervisors in their north Chamber at the County Administration Bldg., 1600 Pacific Highway.

The Lemon Grove Committee for Incorporation carried the incorporation program through all of the steps required, including the county sponsored studies which were assembled by the County's Intergovernmental Office and review and approval by the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO).

LAFCO's study said Lemon Grove had the necessary size, shape and quality to successfully sustain itself as a city.

Denny Named Voter Registrar

Robert Denny has been named permanent San Diego County Registrar of Voters by Gerald Wilson, acting Community Services Agency administrator.

Denny had been serving as Acting Registrar since mid-January. He replaces retired Registrar Charles Sexton.

Denny, a resident of El Cajon, has served as assistant registrar since 1973. He held the same position in Alameda County and has also worked as state elections assistant for the California Secretary of State. He first came to work for San Diego County in 1953 as a data processing analyst and began working for the County Registrar's Office as a data processing supervisor in 1956.

Denny officially took over January 30.

The March 3 hearing before the supervisors will be for approving the concept of incorporation and its boundaries, for setting the tax rate and the date of election.

Although the Board of Supervisors normally approves such issues, contention over boundaries by the City of La Mesa which wants some of the area in the northwest part of the proposed city, and a group in the Blossom Hills area in the southeast corner which wishes to be included in the proposed city may require the proposal to be sent back to LAFCO for boundary change approval.

That will not pose too great an obstacle since LAFCO has scheduled a special meeting to follow the supervisors' hearing to consider any changes the supervisors might order. Small changes may be made on the same day, according to Mike Niederman, of the LAFCO staff.

A poll of the Blossom Hills area by some residents of that community showed that more than 50 per cent of them wanted to be included in the new city. Only one resident dissented, it was reported. The rest were undecided.

Books Wanted For Rotary Club Local Projects

Johnny can't read because he doesn't, says education specialists.

Books aren't readily available to him and television and other distractions of today's society have removed books and reading from his life.

To encourage reading and to raise money for club projects, the Lemon Grove Rotary club will sell all the good, used books it can collect on April 3 at its Book Fair during the community's Old Time Days event.

All the books will have been donated and will be sold at minimal cost, according to Dr. Robert Pyle, chairman of the Rotary Book Committee.

Proceeds will be distributed to the L.G. Senior Citizen's Club and the Rotary International/Interact Club at Mt. Miguel High School.

Those unable to deliver donated books may call Mt. Miguel High School, 463-5551, and indicate books are available for the Book Fair. A member of the Interact Club will pick them up.

Pyle is principal of Mt. Miguel.

Helix Nurse Collects Glasses for Needy

Old prescription glasses that may be collecting dust in your home can be made useful to someone in need.

Helix High School's nurse, Marion Taylor, is collecting discarded lenses which many times may be reground and passed on to needy people with vision problems.

Mrs. Taylor collects glasses from students at Helix and forwards them to optician Dr. Hugo H. Dypvik.

Wholesale houses pick up the glasses from Dypvik and send them to a New Jersey firm which evaluates and catalogs the lenses. They are then sent to welfare recipients or shipped out of the country. Contributors should bring their old prescription glasses to the nurse's office at Helix High.

County Can't Help Monte Vista School Pedestrians on Jamacha

The County Traffic Safety Committee met recently to discuss what action might be taken to prevent pedestrian hazards imposed on Monte Vista High School students who twice daily walk an isolated section of Jamacha Blvd. Their decision was to take no action.

Parents had complained to Grossmont Union High School District officials that students must walk in the street on a section of Jamacha Blvd. where the speed limit is 50 mph and there are no sidewalks. The issue was referred to the safety committee.

Jack Murrell, county traffic safety schools liaison officer, reported to the District that no County corrective actions were warranted as the conditions enumerated did not fall under the guidelines of San Diego's "School Pedestrian Safety Policies and Warrants," a booklet which outlines the operating procedures and guidelines in decision making regarding school requests.

Open Tues. - Sat. 9:30 - 4:00

You'll find energy conservation in the frozen food section at Safeway.

The world's largest grocery chain deals mostly in perishables. So the biggest item on Safeway's energy shopping list is refrigeration and air conditioning. To keep fresh foods fresh. Frozen foods frozen. Customers comfortable. And perishables from perishing.

But the thought of all that cold air has made some avid watt watchers a little hot under the collar. Until they discovered that in many Safeways, the refrigeration system also heats the store!

Here's how it works: refrigeration is not putting cold air into an area. It's taking hot air out. So Safeway simply uses the refrigeration it needs...and circulates extracted heat through the store. The initial capital investment? One that pays for itself in less than seven years. The result? Hot and cold running energy savings...about 13% since 1973.

Of course, Safeway has also reduced indoor lighting by about 33%. Eliminated most decorative and exterior lighting. Shortened lighting times for parking lots. And controlled new signs with photo cells triggered by darkness.

But most of Safeway's energy savings have come from hot new ideas about recycled refrigeration. The kind of energy saving ideas we've been sharing with San Diego businesses and industries for the past five years...the kind we'd like to pass on to you.

SD&E SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

If Safeway can do it, so can you. And we're here to help.

Stones Brings World Record To Indoor Meet

Dwight Stones, the world's No. 1 high jumper, has joined a growing cast of all stars who will compete in the Jack-In-The-Box Indoor Games Saturday night, February 21, at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Stones holds both the world indoor and outdoor records in his pet event as he girds himself for a gold medal in the Montreal Olympic Games later this summer. His best is 7 ft. 6 1/2 inches.

Three other world record-holders announced their intentions to compete in the San Diego meet: New Zealand's John Walker in the mile, Dan Ripley in the pole vault, Francie Larrieu in the women's mile and Al Fluerback in the shot put.

Meet-chairman, Al Franken, says he has more to come.

Stones, of course, not only is a superb competitor but he also is one of the most colorful athletes in the world.

He is well known for his continuing squabbles with the AAU, NCAA, coaches, schools and whoever else gets in his way.

Now attending Long Beach State, Stones formerly was at UCLA and Glendale Colleges. He also competed for the Pacific Coast Club, but withdrew when he had a falling-out with coach Tom Jennings.

But nobody questions Stones' ability at the high jump pit. He has more clearances of over 75 or better than anybody else in history.

CLEAN SWEEP—Merchants for North and South sides of Broadway squared off between periods of Saturday's Mariner-Phoenix game at the Sports Arena to engage in the above melee under the guise of a broomball match. The fever-pitched battle reportedly produced several strained backs and broken broom sticks and it all ended in a 0-0 tie.

Nonetheless, Bob Russell of Russell's Plumbing was voted MVP for an amazing save late in the game executed with finesse (and with the help of a large fishing net). The Mariners went on to win their contest 6-1 before a crowd of over 9,000, the second largest turnout this season.

Chargers Get Bill Walsh for Offensive Team

Bill Walsh, who developed Ken Anderson into a top-rated passer in the NFL for Cincinnati, and the Bengals' pass offensive into the most prolific, has been named offensive coordinator of the San Diego Chargers.

He replaces John David Crow who resigned late last year to accept a position as athletic director and head coach of Northeast Louisiana.

Walsh has been with the Bengals since 1968.

'Outstanding' — Prothro
Charger head coach Tommy Prothro made the announcement. "I think Bill Walsh is one of the outstanding men coaching football anywhere," said Prothro. "He is detailed and inventive."

In 1975 Anderson passed for 3,169 yards and Cincinnati averaged 231.5 passing yards—both NFL highs by wide margins. The Bengals also led the American Conference in passing in 1973 and 1974.

Walsh, 44, helped develop such outstanding Cincinnati receivers as Isaac Curtis, Chip Myers and Bob Trumpy.

"I considered a number of opportunities prior to accepting this position," said Walsh. "But I chose San Diego because I think the opportunity is here, I am delighted to work under Tommy Prothro and it's great to return home to California."

A native of Los Angeles, Walsh was a receiver at San Jose State U. He spent three years as a head high school coach, three years as defensive coordinator at U.C., three years at Stanford as top assistant to John Ralston and one year as offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

He said he's coming and that's just great, 'cause Lee Trevino is one of the all around super guys in professional sports. His swinging through the Andy Williams-San Diego Open next week is all but guaranteed to chase away gloom and bring on the sunshine. It all starts Feb. 11 at Torrey Pines golf works. Tickets are on sale everywhere.

They call him Supermex, the Happy Mex and almost any Mex folks can think up. Truth is, he's just Super Guy. Lee Trevino is one of the enlisted men of life. He's one of the crowd. He belongs everywhere . . . and anywhere. He's got to go down in history as one of the Big-4 in golf. Not as a money winner or a title winner, though he could do that, too.

But Trevino's real accomplishment in life is his affect on folks who never had a door opened for them, who never got a helping hand, who knew push and shove and scratchin' for a living, and only rarely glimpsed the fruits of life before they spoiled.

No one of their cut had ever played a gentlemen's game like golf until Trevino came out of El Paso hittin' a taped up Dr. Pepper bottle, telling tall tales, swappin' lies and taming the toughest golf tests conceived by man.

Perhaps only Terrible Tommy Bolt, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus have carved a niche in the hearts of the gallery as strong as his. Tommy did it with his great individualism and his honesty of self. Palmer opened the door of golf to everyone and Nicklaus showed them how the game should be played.

But Lee brought in the working class. The shirt sleeve and ring-around-the-collar crowd. The hard working, sweat of the brow bunch. He made them laugh. He was at ease on the common ground over which they came.

"Tournament golf isn't pressure golf," he would say. "Playing in the big time is easy. Real pressure golf is when you're playing a $300 Nassau with a bunch of big shots and you've only got $10 in your pocket."

Folks down Texas way don't take kindly to guys who don't back their play with proper pay. He either had to win or else . . .

Lee turned pro in 1960 and scratched out his hustle giving lessons and playing for "side money" over the next six years. He picked up $600 in "official" money in 1966, then jumped to $26,000 in '67 and joined the big time in '68 with his first U.S. Open win.

And he never forgot who he was or from where he came. He's as quick with a quip as he is with a helping hand. Both of which lie near the surface and are easily triggered into action.

"A brave golfer," he says, "is a guy who wears white pants in the Mexican Open . . . after he drinks the water."

He brings quick smiles and open laughter where others frown and freeze the air of competition into the stillness of a sanctuary.

Yet, this man is committed to raising, through appearances and exhibition play, nearly $1 million to help build a radium-cobalt cancer treatment center in El Paso. He does it without fanfare, without publicity.

He brings lightness and charm to any gathering. But don't serve him French wines and vichyssoise. He can handle it, of course, but he prefers to drink his beer out of a can and ain't above picking his chicken up with his hand.

And he's been known to dump it all for a cause that he measured more righteous. Like the time he left the sponsor's party at La Costa during a recent Tournament of Champions.

Now, Mutual of New York and La Costa turn out a first class, grade AAA, Super Stupendous Sponsor's Party for players and guests during the course of the MONY TofC. And, among players, press and other lucky invitees, it's the highlight of the golf year. It's a bonafide happening.

But a telephone call somehow filtered through to the players dressing room a few years ago and Trevino answered it. A voice he didn't know invited him to join in a Sports Night that evening in Pacific Beach. "We're gonna host a bunch of wounded kids from the Naval Hospital," said the voice.

Trevino went, of course. No press. No TV. Just Lee and a bunch of kids. Supermex? You bet your sweet swing he is. And we could use a lot more like him.

Padres Push for 5,000 Pre-Seasons

More than 3000 season tickets have been sold and the big push by the San Diego Padres is just now beginning with the start of operations by the Padre Action Teams.

The three groups, representing the Inland, Beach and Downtown areas, all held kick-off meetings last week and are just now formulating plans of attack in an effort to crack the 5000 mark in season sales for the first time in the club's history.

Heading up each of the three groups are co-managers; Dr. Lowell Smith and Grant Beals for the Inland team, Joe Tagliarino and John Seitman for Downtown and Chuck Morgan and Bailey Gallison for the Beach.

Last week's sales brought the total to date to 3393. A breakdown of the total count shows 1007 full season packages and 2386 mini-season plans.

Baseball Films Available at Padres' Office

Four new baseball films highlighted by the 1975 World Series film featuring the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox are now available to groups from the San Diego Padres.

The World Series film carries all of the major highlights of the recent classic with special emphasis on such plays as the controversial bunt play at home plate which aided the Reds and Carlton Fisk's dramatic extra inning home run to win game number six for the Red Sox. Narrated by Joe Garagiola, the film runs approximately 30 minutes.

The other new films available from the Padres are the 1975 All-Star Game (featuring San Diego's own Randy Jones), All-Star Pitching Tips and All-Star Catching and Base Stealing Tips.

Films may be reserved at the San Diego Padres Ticket Office in San Diego Stadium for a refundable $10 deposit during the working week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Also available are: World Series Highlights for 1968-69, 70 and 1972-73-74, the 1971-72-74 All-Star Games, 1970: Baseball's Booming Year, Great Moments in Baseball, What Makes an All-Star, All-Star Batting Tips, Baseball: The NOW Career and Baseball vs. Drugs.

Availability dates can be obtained by calling the San Diego Padres at 283-4494.

Mariners Battle For Playoff Spot

The battle is on for the post-season playoffs but Houston holds a comfortable lead in the WHA West Division.

With the Mariners, Minnesota Fighting Saints and the Phoenix Roadrunners separated by a point or two over the past weeks, it can be any one of the three in or out of the playoffs.

It isn't likely that any of the trio can overcome Houston with the team lead varying 8-10 points.

But it's the game at hand that counts and the Mariners entertain (if that's the word) the Cleveland Crusaders to night at 7:30. Cleveland, as the Mariners, is usually a point or two away from second or third place in the East Division.

Following this game, the Mariners travel to Houston Sunday, and to Minnesota Tuesday before returning home to face Minnesota again on Wednesday and Houston, here on February 14.

San Diego should be healthy for the upcoming games which is somewhat of a rarity for Coach Ron Ingram's skaters. Winger John French suffered a broken nose in practice last week but played with a protective mask and shouldn't miss a shift. Additionally, winger Wayne Rivers didn't seem slowed by a pulled back muscle as he got the winning goal in one of the victories.

Connors, Nastase Top La Costa Tennis Tourney

Jimmy Connors and Ilie Nastase headline a 16-man tennis championship field that will compete in the Independent Players Assn. finals March 16-21 at the La Costa Racquet Club in Carlsbad.

The tournament, the most prestigious pro event ever held in S. Cal., carries a minimum purse of $100,000 with $30,000 going to the winner.

Merv Adelson, president of La Costa said the event probably would become a fixture.

He said that the presence of Connors and Nastase, both of whom have committed to play in the event, guarantees the tournament major status. "The field for this event promises to be the strongest and should have the greatest spectator interest of any ever held in Southern California."

For the past three years La Costa has hosted a World Championship Tennis (WCT) event each Spring.

Don Hamilton, former head professional at Pebble Beach and long-time director of top-rated tennis events, has been named tournament director. He said that the IPA event would consist of 10 sessions, starting Tuesday through Sunday with afternoon and evening programs Tuesday through Friday.

Finals of the singles competition will be held Saturday with the doubles finals and a third-place playoff on Sunday. CBS will televise Saturday finals nationally.

Hamilton said that despite the presence of the world's leading male players in the tournament there would be no increase of single session ticket prices from what was charged last year. Ticket prices are $4, $6 and $8 Tuesday through Thursday for both afternoon and evening play and $6, $8 and $10 for Friday (afternoon and evening) Saturday and Sunday.

Six-seat season boxes are available for $500 and $600. Ticket orders are now being accepted, write La Costa Tennis Tournament, Costa Del Mar Road, Carlsbad, 92008, or call 438-9111.

Records on Line At Indoor Meet

Will the 71'7" world record shot put be broken Saturday, February 21 when Al Franken's Jack in the Box Indoor Games are unveiled for the 10th time at the San Diego Sports Arena?

Al Feuerbach, the world record holder with a toss of 71'7" thinks he can. He is figured one of the strong gold medal threats for the Montreal Olympics.

Pete Schmuck, a San Diegan who went to Oregon, is one of Feuerbach's challengers for the meet.

Other shot put entrants include Mac Wilkins, another former Oregon standout, Jim Neidhart of UCLA and 70-footer Ron Semkiw of San Jose State.

Feuerbach joins such other world record holders as high jumper Dwight Stones, miler Francie Larrieu and vaulter Dan Ripley among entries for the meet.

New Zealand's John Walker, scheduled in the miler, has been sidelined, temporarily at least, with an Achilles' tendon problem.

Hollypark Purses Top $10 Million

Hollywood Park, the national leader in purses paid to horsemen, will distribute nearly $11 million in stakes in overnight races during the 1976 season that will begin April 9.

49 stakes for a total in excess of $2.9 million and a purse program of overnight competition exceeding $7.1 million, are scheduled for the 79-day Inglewood season.

For the first time in racing history, more than $10 million was distributed in purses at a single meeting last year.

A HollyPark Spokesman said that the schedule this year anticipates a total distribution of nearly $11 million.

Hollywood Park will be the first track ever to present three $200,000-plus stakes. The $200,000 added Hollywood Derby will begin the trio, April 17, and will be followed by two classics for three-year-olds and up, the $200,000 Hollywood Turf Invitational May 31 and the $250,000 guaranteed Hollywood Gold Cup, which will be renewed June 20.

According to Kilroe, purses for features on non-stakes days will be $25,000. Two-year-old maidens events will be valued at $10,000 and three-year-old maidens will race short for $10,000 and long for $11,000.

Crew Classic Bids Go to 18 Colleges

It hardly seems possible but it's nearly rowing time again.

San Diego's fourth annual Crew Classic has been scheduled for April 3 on a specially designed course in Mission Bay, according to Andy Borthwick, lifetime rowing enthusiast and former president of the S.D. First National Bank.

18 collegiate crews have been invited in what is described as the biggest ever Classic event.

Last year there were 17 individual races in all classes. The big invitation list this year includes Harvard, MIT, Universities of Wisconsin, Washington, Cal-Berkeley, Cal-Irvine, Cal-L.A., Nebraska, British Columbia, Cal-San Diego, and Cal-Santa Barbara.

Also: Oregon State, Navy, Stanford, Long Beach State, Universities of Cal. and Cornell.

Borthwick will serve as president of a non-profit corporation under whose umbrella the races will be conducted. Joe Jessop, another long time San Diegan and lifelong rowing enthusiast, will be vice president.

The S.D. Crew Classic committee is headed by Gary Fraser who can be reached at 222-6902.

WORKS TO STOP BURGLARIES — Florence Helms, who works out of the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Substation on Broadway, was recently elected president of the San Diego Area Burglary Investigation Assn. which serves all area enforcement teams. She is the first woman president of the association. Burglary accounts for a sizable caseload for the Sheriff's Office which recently reported a 1975 figure of $5.6 million in property stolen within areas of the sheriff's jurisdiction.

SDG&E Asks for Customer Rate Reduction

San Diego Gas & Electric placed another application with the Public Utilities Commission recently, this time to reduce customers' rates.

SDG&E decided it will not need $2.5 million which would have helped pay for Alaskan natural gas exploration by a petroleum company.

Southern California Gas Company terminated a controversial contract with the Atlantic Richfield Company last week. Southern Cal. Gas supplies natural gas to SDG&E. The Federal Power Commission and the State PUC has been taking action to stop further agreements between the two concerns when it was learned that Southern Cal. would have had access to a disproportionate share of the petroleum firm's natural gas yields.

S.D. Fraud Workshop To Aid Senior Citizens

A series of workshops on consumer fraud practices against the elderly will be held on March 3 in the auditorium of the Casa del Prado, Balboa Park.

Topics to be discussed are "Street and Home Safety," "Medical Quackery and Supplemental Insurance," "Bunco Frauds" and "Wills, Probate and Conservatorship."

Panelists from the state Department of Health, the state Dept. of Insurance, the city attorney's office and the county Office of Senior Citizens Affairs will host the two-hour workshops.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and workshops will run from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Man Claims Innocence Of TV Modification

A Spring Valley man was ordered to appear in Municipal Court February 26 after he pleaded innocent to charges of petty theft in connection with an alleged scheme to modify teevee sets to receive Channel 100, a pay television service.

The man, V. M. Crepeau of 643 Maclay st. was alleged to have offered to convert teevee sets to receive the pay channel for $25. The channel offers first run motion pictures and special events.

It was alleged that Crepeau made his offer from a swap meet booth in El Cajon. The theft charge alleges that he made the hookups without paying subscriber fees to Channel 100.

Wiley Cornelius, principal Mt. Vernon and Vista La Mesa schools. Also retiring are Harold E. Drew, custodian at Vista La Mesa, and Orville M. Faulstich, Palm Jr. High custodian.

Tennis Buff

Brogan plans a June retirement following 25 years of District service. His career in education dates back to 1935 when he was employed by the Indian Field Service division of the U.S. Department of the Interior in San Carlos, Arizona.

Following a three-year stint in the U.S. Marines, Brogan returned to his profession, teaching in the San Diego City School district and at St. Augustine High where he also took on basketball and baseball coaching duties.

In 1950 he joined the teaching staff at Vista La Mesa school, went to Lemon Grove Jr. High in 1953 where he became assistant principal, and then to Palm Jr. High in 1960 when he became principal.

Brogan, a tennis buff, hopes to follow that sport's senior circuit following retirement. He lives with his wife Dorris, a retired San Diego City school teacher in San Diego. The Brogans have three children, all school teachers.

Two Principals in One

Wiley Cornelius has been Mt. Vernon Elementary School's principal for 17 years and has been simultaneously Vista La Mesa's chief administrator for two years. District experience totals 25 years. He spent two years as principal at Palm Jr. High prior to his move to Mt. Vernon.

Outside of school work, Cornelius is an active Rotarian, having served as the Lemon Grove chapter's president in 1966-67. He is a president of the board of education at the College Avenue Baptist Church and has been active in the American Field Service Mt. Miguel chapter.

Education is also heavily accented in the Cornelius household. Wife Emily is a teacher at San Miguel School, Lemon Grove. They have two daughters, one a Grossmont High School teacher and the other a student of dental hygiene at Baylor Dental College in Dallas, Texas.

Both principals express great praise for the Lemon Grove school district and community. "These were the happiest years of my life," Cornelius said.

Successors

Dr. Genevieve G. Oliphant, currently the District's Coordinator of Pupil Personnel Services, has been appointed to replace Cornelius at Mt. Vernon. Current Assistant Principal Dan Heiserman becomes Vista La Mesa's principal after Cornelius' June retirement.

District administrative staff will be accepting applications for Palm Jr. High principal through February, Sutton said.

Custodian Harold Drew has retired following 18 years service to the District. Drew, 63, has been head custodian at Vista La Mesa school. Orville Faulstich, having served eight years, retires as night custodian at Palm Jr. High. Both men retire at the end of March.

Year-Round Registrations Racks Up Gains

The State Department of Motor Vehicles announced that registration renewals are running almost a third of a million ahead of this time last year in spite of changes brought about by the switch-over to the year-round registration system.

DMV Director Herman Silas said that many more motorists are taking advantage of the simplicity of the procedure of mailing in renewal notices and checks rather than standing in line in local offices to register their vehicles as in the past.

The year-round registration program was mandated in 1973 by the State Legislature in order to spread vehicle registration renewals evenly throughout the year. It also provides an even flow of in-lieu tax funds back to the cities and counties.

Josephine Lobue, manager of year-round registration, explained that some motorists must register their vehicle this year for as little as seven months and reregister again in the same calendar year. Others must register the vehicle for as many as 18 months but won't have to reregister until mid-1977.

Fees are prorated according to the number of months for which the vehicle is being registered, but because of the necessary mechanics of the conversion to the staggered registration system, some motorists are losing a portion of the annual depreciation that normally reduces their registration costs every January.

This means that those motorists who must register their vehicles twice during 1976 will be paying fees based on the same value twice. Motorists who must register their cars for longer than a one-year period will be paying fees for as many as six months into 1977 based on the January 1976 value.

Students Fund Rt. 54 Night Transit Route

Bus Route 54, which connects Spring Valley and Casa De Oro to La Mesa, El Cajon, and the north county areas of Santee and Lakeside has announced there is one additional bus running exactly one hour later each school day.

This last run of the day is being financed by the students of Grossmont College for one month on an experimental basis to see if the students, recognizing they can get round trips to and from evening classes, will avail themselves of full public transportation.

The late run of route 54 starts at Grossmont College at 9:30 p.m. going to Santee, Lakeside, and then retracing the balance of the route from Grossmont College to the south. It leaves the college again at 10:06 p.m. and terminates at approximately 10:30 p.m. in the Rancho San Diego area.

Invitation for Seniors

Senior citizens of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are invited to the Valencia Park Community School at 5880 Skyline dr., San Diego, to get acquainted with other seniors and enjoy a hot meal.

Meals are served at 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday in the school's cafeteria.

MORAL FIBER — Henry Easier, right, of 3302 Par dr., Brookside, was given the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club Moral Fiber Award at the club's meeting last week. The award was for his "unusual contribution to the youth of the community and for his willingness to become personally involved in the support of law and order."

With him are Paul Reynolds, left, Kiwanis past president, who arranged the program, and two Ponytail baseball players, Chris and Kim Norman of Spring Valley.

Easier was cited for taking a group of unruly youngsters that wanted to play baseball and leading them to the Ponytail League Championship last year.

He also was cited for becoming personally involved last year in an assault case in Denver while he was on vacation. He willingly returned there to make identification of the suspect. Reynolds said "Service to your community is one of the highest ideals in our society. If I were a teacher I'd give you an 'A'."

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

Things were a little different in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley 20 years ago. This new column which dips into our past issues file will be a weekly feature to remind those who were around at that time how life around us has changed since then. We hope "Back Pages" will also enlighten readers who were not around 20 years ago about life in a different era.

Twenty years ago today . . . Members of the Lemon Grove Democratic Club participated in a reception for Adlai Stevenson. The gathering was held in the Conference Building at Balboa Park and coffee and cake were served. Stevenson was the Democratic nominee in the Presidential election of 1956 and lost by over nine million votes to the Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A column entitled "Platter Parade" was a regular feature of the Review/Bulletin and the hottest tunes in the area in February, 1956 included

"16 Tons" by Tennessee Ernie Ford, "Memories are Made of This" by Dean Martin and a hit record by Gale Storm, "I Hear You Knocking."

The Mt. Helix Council voted to endorse a bond election that was to be held soon for the La Mesa/Spring Valley school district.

And with inflation the way it is today, it's always interesting to look at how deflated prices were in the past. An ad appearing in the Review/Bulletin 20 years ago was selling white wall auto tires for $9.95 a set. An area restaurant promoted lunches from 85 cents and dinner $1.50 and up. The family car could be washed and waxed for only $1.25 (two bits more with white side walls). And a large tub washer was selling for only $99.95. Meat prices in a supermarket ad included several eye-catchers by today's standards including pork roast for 23 cents a pound.

Demos Slate Workshops On Convention Delegate Picks

On Saturday, democrats full participation of all democrats in the delegate selection process for the 1976 Democratic National Convention.

Special efforts are mandated to facilitate and encourage participation by minorities, native Americans, women, youth, other traditionally underrepresented groups, organized labor and all other working people.

Zoo Photographer to Teach G'mont Class

"Photography: From Near to Infinity" is the title of a six-session Grossmont College community education course due to start next Wednesday, February 11.

Class is held each Wednesday through March 17 in the Board Room at Grossmont College. Teacher will be the San Diego Zoo's chief photographer, Ron Garrison. Class size is limited to 35 persons on a first-come, first-served basis.

Participants will study animal photography techniques, both in the wild and at Zoos; "close-up" photography of insects, small animals and plants and night photography by lights and moonlight. Two field trips are planned.

Registration fee is $4 payable at the first session.

Several Six Packs

Figures released by George W. Ososke, vice president of the U.S. Brewers Assn., show that Californians drank 15 million barrels of beer in 1975, an increase of about one percent over 1974.

Taxes on the brew topped $276 million, a record.

G'mont High To Sing for Road Trip

The Grossmont High School Vocal Music Department presents a benefit concert Sunday featuring one of the top three high school girl's ensembles in the state.

The Grossmont High ensemble was selected to perform at the convention of American Choral Directors Assn., Western Division in Palo Alto next week.

Sunday's concert at Grossmont auditorium will help finance the trip to Palo Alto.

Performing will be the Red Robe Choir, Girls' Glee and the Girls' Ensemble, all under the direction of Robert Boucher.

The choir will sing selections from "Godspell" and a group of spirituals. The Girls' Glee will perform "Happy Together," "For Baby," and "I'm Sorry." The Ensemble will present a portion of the program to be heard at the convention, including "Cantata Domino," "God's Bottles," "Feel'n Groovy" and "That's What Lovin' You is All About."

Admission to the 4 p.m. concert is $1.50. A drawing for door prizes is planned.

Cubic Expects Plus Column Earnings for '75

Cubic Corporation announced this week it expects to report record high earnings in 1975 of $1 or more, compared to a loss of 49 cents a share in 1974.

In a statement issued by the San Diego based high technology manufacturer, Walter J. Zable, the firm's chief executive officer, said, "We are definitely back on our planned growth curve after suffering a temporary interruption in 1974."

He predicted 1976 would be an even better year, citing anticipated upswings in markets served by Cubic, such as mass transit, citizen band radio, defense electronics, medical and industrial products.

The corporation's Spring Valley subsidiary U.S. Elevator is now running "in an efficient manner and is in a much stronger position today to compete," Zable said. U.S. Elevator was a financial liability to the corporation in 1974.

CB Radio Taken in S.V.

A thief unlocked the wind wing of the auto belonging to Richard Lee Wimberly, of 2422 Central ave., Spring Valley and took his Pace 23 channel CB radio.

Wimberly was sleeping in his home at the time. He reported the loss to the Sheriff's department on January 28 setting the cost of replacement at $225.

Three Juveniles Charged In Lemon Grove Robbery

Lemon Grove detectives of the Lemon Grove Sheriff's office followed several clues that led to four teenagers who are charged with burglary of more than $580 worth of valuables at the home of Ronald J. Hiles, 43, a heavy equipment operator of 3263 Harris st., Lemon Grove.

In the loot were silver dollars, costume jewelry, watch, variety of silver coins and two handguns.

The trail led to a billiard parlor where the police found one of the guns under the seat of the car owned by one of four teenagers involved in the burglary. In addition to a burglary charge, the youth was also tagged on a concealed weapon charge.

BAD TIMING — The unlucky driver of the van shown being uprighted by Highway Patrol officers on Rt. 94 had a very poor sense of timing. The van overturned on the east-bound lane near the Spring St. exit in an accident that occurred just at the start of the evening rush hour last week Wednesday. The accident further aggravated a usually heavy load of home-bound travelers.

After $4.2 Million Fine

ARB Seeks Explanation for AMC's False Emission Figures

The state Air Resources Board became suspicious of American Motors testing procedures several months ago when the company submitted reports indicating their cars were among the cleanest produced anywhere in the world.

A series of 39 tests revealed that 85 per cent of AMC's V-8 line failed to meet both carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen standards. The revelations led to an unprecedented $4.2 million fine levied against the auto manufacturer and a ban on California sales of American Motors V-8's effective January 8.

Many Dirty Cars

"We had never seen so many dirty cars," said ARB Chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

ARB tested prototypes of AMC V-8's early in 1975 and found emissions to be just within legal requirements.

Quinn said the state now wants to determine whether AMC intentionally falsified the tests or whether the company "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

ARB engineers who visited AMC's Wisconsin test plant believe the testing problem may have been caused by improper equipment calibration. They are not yet certain whether neglect or intentional tinkering could be responsible, however.

American Motors executives have denied intentional wrongdoing and attributed their problem to "lack of attention," "poor maintenance" of test facilities and "neglect," Quinn said.

Six-Cylinder Suspect

Also suspect are emissions from six-cylinder vehicles in AMC's 1976 line.

The ARB said action may be taken later against those autos after additional tests are conducted to determine if they meet the state's anti-smog laws. Preliminary tests have already indicated a potential problem.

Quinn said the huge fine — $4,279,200 — covers both production of polluting cars and submission of false reports based on AMC's inaccurate test data.

Waiver Option

The Board ruled that it would consider waiving 75 per cent of the fine if AMC promptly paid the remaining 25 per cent and committed the remaining funds to improving its emissions control and fuel economy program.
